Star's correspondent in Anacostia yesterday afternoon. Together they visited the alleys and inspected several of the rear premises and a number of streets. The inspector was impressed with the fact that something should be done for Anacostia at cace. In an alley running between Polk street and parallel with Fillmore a pile of refuse matter was found, where it had been deposited and was in a decaying condition. At the rear end of the alley a pool of stagnant water was seen, which evaporated in the air, and several drains emptied their matter into the alley. This place was made the subject of special report by the health officer. Another place, a private alley in the rear of some houses on Jackson street near Fillmore, was also full of decaying vegetable matter. A sewer on Fillmore vegetable matter. At Emmert Bros.' steam flouring mill in Hagerstowr George Reese, the night miller, formerly from near Westminster, met a most horrible death on Thursday, at 10:30 o'clock p.m. He had been sitting in front of the mill with a friend, Mr. Richard R. Staley, and hearing a noise on the first floor, produced by the slipping of a belt, he went into the mill with his lantern to adjust it. Shortly afterward Mr. Staley heard a racket in the mill, and going in was horrified to see the crushed and mangled body of Mr. Reese wedged between two pulleys lution of the shaft, threshing the beams above and the barrels below. When the machinery was finally stopped there was a limp piece of flesh hanging from the shaft, but nothing in the semblance of a men. Hands, arms and legs had been threshed off, and the trunk mangled and stretched until the human shape had dlsappeared. The deceazed was a first-class miller, upright and reliable in every way,

The Disaster. At 12:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon the fire was noticed in the sixth north level and notice was given to the men inside, who were working in different parts of the breast, and others along the level, and others along the gangway, as soon as it was known there was a fire.

Many of the n.en in the gangways rushed back to notify the miners further in, while others rushed out and reached the main shaft. It is certain that all the men in the breast reached the gangway in safety. In all about seventy men were at work in the sixth level north, and of that number about forty lingered at breast 62, where the fire originated, and made an attempt to put out the fire.

The breast was burning fiercely, and b fore the miners knew it the fire had com-municated to breasts 60 and 61, and the municated to breasts 60 and 61, and the smoke began to issue from breast 61 in that immediate vicinity. Several of those who lingered at the burning breast 62 took warning and fied, but all who remained were overcome and asphyxiated.

It is evident that the men had time to come out, for those who worked in the further breast reached the shaft in sofety, while those who were nearest the shaft while those who were nearest the shaft, and, consequently, more removed from danger, perished. DUTIES OF MILITIAMEN.

Can Be Ordered About Like Member: of the Regular Army. A letter received by Attorney General Hancock of New York contained the following inquiry: "How is a member of the National Guard, state of New York, liable to be called and compelled to go outside of his own state to do military duty? As an instance, could the New York state National Guard be compelled to do duty at Chicago strike?"

In reply the attorney general said: "I am not aware that the authority of the state to punish for military offenses committed by its own citizen soldiers withstate to go beyond its bolders for activations service, and to punish for refusal, without lawful excuses, to do so. But it has been decided by the Supreme Court of the United States (Houston against Moore) that a member of the National Guard of the state ful excuse, to report for duty and render service in obedience to a call from the President may be punished as a court-mar-

President may be pupished as a court-mar-tial may direct.

"I have not found that the statutes of the decision from which I quoted have been repealed or modified, hence I am of the opinion that not only is a member of the National Guard liable to be called to duty outside of his own state, but he may be legally compelled to go and perform the same on the call of the President of the United States Just as though he were a United States Just as though he were a soldier of the regular army."
